Units

Participants need to complete 10 units of competency.

Who can undertake the training?

Our entry requirements are for students to have very good English skills, both written and spoken. Very good computer skills are an advantage.

The pre-requisites for this course are:

There are no pre-requisites for this course.

How often do the courses run and what is their duration?

The course is run within your workplace while undertaking a traineeship with your employer.

How is the course trained & assessed?

The course consists of both theory and practical elements and is completed via assessment within the workplace.

Assessment is used to provide you with feedback on your progress and to measure your skills and knowledge against the training qualification requirements and those of the industry. The assessment process will include written and practical demonstration, observation and will normally require some time away from the working desk completing assignments and self-paced exercises.

Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL)

If you believe you are already competent in a number of skills through your work or life experience, then these skills may be formally recognised via our RPL program.

As part of the RPL assessment your existing skills and knowledge will be assessed against a range of industry standards by a qualified assessor.

You can demonstrate your competence in a variety of ways including performing tasks, sharing your anecdotes about how you carry out tasks in the workplace or providing work samples.

Benefits of applying for RPL:

- It can accelerate you through your qualification.
- A qualification may assist you with getting a promotion, job security, a change in career or even a pay rise.
- It can help your studies to be interesting and challenging (as you are not learning things you already know).
- Reduced study load.
- Better planning of future training.

Credit Transfer

Credit Transfer is the process where the Western Business School accepts and provides credit to you for units of competency that you have previously completed at another training organisation. If you believe you have a Certificate of Qualification or Statement of Attainment for any units previously completed Western Business School will confirm the unit and award a Credit Transfer to you.

Benefits of applying for Credit Transfer

- It can accelerate you through your qualification.
- Reduced study load.
- Better planning of future training.
